Counsel for Plaintiff/Appellant Cindy Lee Garcia	Counsel for Defendants/Appellees Google, Inc. and YouTube, LLC

2. Appellant/Plaintiff Cindy Lee Garcia hereby files this emergency motion for contempt and/or an order for compliance against Defendants/Appellees Google, Inc., and YouTube LLC (hereinafter, “Google”).

MOTION

3. On February 28, 2014, this Court’s amended order went into effect, ordering Defendants/Appellees to “take down all copies of Innocence of Muslims from YouTube.com and from any other platforms under Google’s control, and take all reasonable steps to prevent further uploads of Innocence of Muslims to those platforms. Google shall comply with this order within twenty-four hours of the issuance thereof. This order does not preclude the posting or display of any version of Innocence of Muslims that does not include Cindy Lee Garcia’s performance.” (Emphasis added.)

4. Google has failed to comply. As of this morning, at 7:55 a.m EST, a version of Innocence of Muslims that includes Ms. Garcia’s performance is still available on Google’s Worldwide Platform and also viewable in Egypt, the nation in which the fatwa was issued for Ms. Garcia’s execution. All a viewer needs to do to view a copy of the video that contains the infringing material from any computer in the world and within in YouTube’s global platform—and therefore is governed by the takedown order—is to change his or her settings to any country platform, such as “Egypt.” Unfortunately, this failure to comply has been a recurrent issue since the Court first ordered the infringing material taken down. Despite the fact that Ms. Garcia’s counsel has pointed out to Google numerous times that

Google has been in contempt of this Court and despite Ms. Garcia's offer (despite her limited resources) to show Google how and why it has failed to comply, its lack of compliance continues to this day. Attached to this Motion are the declarations of M. Cris Armenta and David Hardy, which provide (1) evidence of Google's multiple violations of the order; (2) correspondence between counsel on the issue; and (3) evidence that Google has the technology at its fingertips that would permit it to comply with the Court's order. See Declaration of M. Cris Armenta and Declaration of David Hardy, passim, and attached exhibits.

5. Notwithstanding its vast technical resources and standing as one of the largest and most sophisticated Internet companies in the world, Google and its army of lawyers have taken the position that Google is somehow incapable of complying with the order, that it is "deploying every resource" to comply, and that Ms. Garcia—who has virtually no resources—bears the burden of advising Google of each and every individual URL that remains on Google's platforms in defiance of the takedown order. Then and only then, according to Google has Google complied with the Court's takedown order.

6. Significantly, Ms. Garcia long ago advised Google—via her takedown notices issued in the fall of 2012 that included Google with a list of 852 YouTube channels and URLs that contained the infringing material—of the 852 infringing channels. For Google, it is a pedestrian, technical exercise to take down those URLs, to hire an intern to just search for “Innocence of Muslims,” and their suggestion that Ms. Garcia should comb through YouTube again, and provide Google with the information again, belies Google’s claim that it is in compliance.

7. Because this case is within the jurisdiction of this Circuit, Ms. Garcia is somewhat at a loss as to how to proceed. However, were this case within the jurisdiction of the district court, Ms. Garcia would ask for a contempt penalty of $150,000 per violation. In this particular case, Google has violated the Court’s order (and continued to illegally profit from traffic to the infringing material on YouTube) on several different channels. The maximum penalty of $150,000 per channel is the only fair measure of the contempt. In addition Ms. Garcia would ask the district court that Google post a bond equal to the statutory maximum for copyright infringement for each of the 852 channels identified in her initial takedown notices. Because of the unusual position in which Ms. Garcia finds herself, the matter of any contempt penalty or bond is submitted to the sound discretion of this Court. Those damages range from $30,000.00 to $150,000 per URL that was initially indicated in the takedown notices (852 URLs). This is because Google has behaved with utter contempt for this Court's (amended) order of February 28, 2014 by allowing re-uploads of the video in violation of the Court order and for foisting its duties to police its own platform off to Ms. Garcia's team. This Court should not allow Google to continue to flagrantly defy its order without some corresponding consequences.

8. Additionally, as of the writing of this brief, Google has not "taken down" anything. Instead, it has merely disabled the various uploads displaying Innocence of Muslims in forms that contain infringing content, leaving the content up and viewable via thumbnails. Moreover, Google has failed to remove full copies of the video from its platforms, has failed to prevent new uploads of the video to YouTube, and continues to publish on its Google search index platforms links to numerous sites and platforms where the video can either be directly viewed or where it can be easily downloaded and saved to viewers' computers. Indeed, Google has not even made a pro forma attempt to comply with the order, choosing instead to temporarily disable only a few copies of the video that contain infringing content and putting in their place a snide message to the public that states:

"This video is no longer available due to a copyright claim by an actress over her 5-second appearance in the video. A U.S. court has ordered Google to remove the video. We strongly disagree with this copyright ruling and will fight it."

As is clear from Google's near-total disregard of the order and its ridiculing of the Court's authority, Google is thumbing its nose at the Court and making a mockery of our judicial system in an apparent attempt to encourage the public to blame and harass Ms. Garcia and to continue to use the infringing content to generate YouTube revenues from traffic directed through the 852 URLs that have illegally posted the content.

DECLARATION

Declaration of M. Cris Armenta

I. M. Cris Armenta, declare:

1. I am licensed to practice law in the State of California and admitted to practice before this Court. I am also the principal of The Armenta Law Firm and counsel to Cindy Lee Garcia, the appellant in this action. I make this declaration based on my own personal knowledge. If called as a witness, I would and could testify competently thereto.

2. Since this Court issued its order that the film Innocence of Muslims be removed from Google's platforms, I have personally viewed various videos that contain Ms. Garcia's performance. In order to give Google some reasonable grace period to comply, catalogs of the various infringements that our technical team, with extremely limited resources, have been kept. In exercising restraint, I have advised Mr. Alger, lead counsel for Google in this case, of various violations, as the video was still viewable on Google platforms, including both on YouTube and within or with the use of Google's signature and platform search engine.

3. Attached as Exhibit A is a true and correct copy of correspondence between me and my co-counsel and Mr. Alger with respect to this issue.

4. Attached as Exhibit B is a true and correct copy of the violations mined as of March 2, 2014. This list is likely underinclusive, because Ms. Garcia nor her legal advisors have the ability to technologically mine the data. These searches were done with very little technical know-how.

5. Attached as Exhibit C is an additional DMCA takedown request sent to Google's registered takedown agent, to which it has failed to respond.

6. I have now had 2 extensive telephonic conferences with Mr. Alger concerning what I perceive to be Google's flagrant violations of this Court's order. Mr. Alger and his co-counsel have taken the position that "Google is complying" and that they have, in fact, responded to Ms.

Garcia's delineation of Google's violations. As I expressed to Mr. Alger, Ms. Garcia nor her legal team should have to point out the violations. If I can find them with my limited technical expertise, so can Google. The latest conference took place between counsel today, during which I was informed (despite having provided Mr. Alger verifiable proof that the video is playing in Egypt – the country where the fatwa was initiated against Ms. Garcia) that "Google is complying."

I declare under the penalty of perjury that the foregoing is true and correct and that I executed this declaration on March 25, 2014 in San Diego, California.

Attached are screen shots of Cindy's scene in a version of the movie that's still up and running on YouTube (the screen shots are of the Worldwide YouTube and the Egypt YouTube - I tried several other countries and it appears that it's up everywhere).

This video was posted last September under the name "Innocence of Muslims" - very hard for Google/YouTube to miss it.

We are required by law to alert the registered takedown agent, which has, in fact occurred. I simply wanted to, as a courtesy alert you, in case there are communication issues on your end, since the non-response is highly unusual.

Thank you for agreeing to accept service of the Flynn complaint. We will let you know when it is on its way.

As our technical folks continue to find and locate continued violations of the 9th Circuit's unequivocal order, I just did a search in YouTube for "Innocence of Muslims". This was the 3rd hit, uploaded just 2 days ago, on the day that Tim and I met and conferred and he assured me that Google and YouTube were using all kinds of sophisticated methods to comply. I took me 2 seconds to find this.

<http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=67drcU35B-I>[youtube.com]

Once again, YouTube is wilfully violating the order. This situation is completely untenable and directly violates the Court's clear orders. At this point, my point about fixing the algorithms in the search engine and flagging those searches I believe is quite well supported, because Google is either wilful or completely incompetent to comply.

We appreciated the call yesterday. While I disagree with several of the statements in your email, I want to move this discussion in a more productive direction. Google has taken this seriously and is working quite hard to comply with the Ninth Circuit's order. If you are interested, we think it's worth further discussions, and we'd like to give you more information about our efforts. We also are open to hearing your ideas.

Subject: Pre-Filing Conference

Tim:

This confirms our pre-filing conference this evening. Thank you for taking the time to return my call and for your time on the call. Cindy Lee Garcia's legal team has given Google multiple takedown orders that include hundreds of URL's that contained the film trailer "Innocence of Muslims." We have reminded Google's counsel multiple times that Google has failed to comply with the Court's order. Here is an example of a url that is still up, in direct violation of the Court's order. This is still up in the United States, and viewable if the YouTube country of origin is set up to Egypt, the country in which the fatwa was issued to Ms. Garcia. I can see this from my desk in the United States and so can everyone else. We believe that Google's decision to merely block instead of remove has caused room for failure as we discussed.

<http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=aooblgT4Zzg>[youtube.com], This URL was identified in Garcia's DMCA takedown request #6, which was sent to Google's registered takedown agent on September 26, 2012. Client's performance can be confirmed as present at 8:23. It is Ms. Garcia's position that Google has wilfully infringed since it failed to follow its own guidelines and the law after the takedown requests, and that now that the Ninth Circuit issued a clear directive, the level of willfulness is quite egregious at this point. There are MANY others, and it is our position that the Plaintiff need not expend her limited resource to police Google's noncompliance with the order.

Unless we can reach some reasonable compromise, we will be seeking sanctions against Google for continuing to violate the clear 9th Circuit order. We believe that statutory damages for wilful infringement for the various channels that are still up is a reasonable measure of damages in this scenario. I offered to have our technical folks talk to yours, but this offer was declined. If you can formulate some other appropriate compromise, we are willing to attempt to avoid a motion and if needed an ex parte to advance a hearing. We would of course give you notice of any such application of course.

Cris

Thanks for your email. Your suggestion that Google is merely responding to your complaints is incorrect; Google is actively using a number of different tools, in addition to manual measures, to locate copies of "Innocence of Muslims" and to independently ensure that it is in compliance with the court's order.

Our team should not have to mine the information when Google is more than capable of complying with the Court's order. This was not passive order that permits Google to simply let the infringements "come to Google's attention" - it requires that Google use its skills and technical capacities to take down and prevent uploading which it has not, to date, done.

The point I raised with Neal, is that we should not have to be pointing these out to Google/YouTube. Your client has the technical ability to prevent uploading and sweep using content id. It's failure to do so is something we will address at the appropriate time.

Dear Neal:

It has come to our attention that Google is STILL IN VIOLATION of the even most recent Ninth Circuit more limited order. DECLARATION

DECLARATION OF DAVID HARDY

I, David Hardy, declare:

1. If called as a witness, I could and would testify completely as follows:
2. I am the President of DMCA Solutions LLC (“DMCA Solutions”), a Rhode Island limited liability company that provides managed online anti-piracy strategies and solutions for protecting and enforcing copyrighted content, such as films, videos, digital music and games, software, images, and written and recorded content. DMCA Solutions regularly acts as an agent on behalf of copyright owners and persons with legal rights to request that infringing content be “taken down” or disabled from YouTube or other online service providers (“OSPs”), including search engines such as Google and other Internet service providers pursuant to the Digital Millennium Copyright Act (the “DMCA”). I am familiar with the procedures that Google and YouTube normally follow when they receive takedown notices that are compliant with the DMCA.
3. DMCA Solutions is the appointed DMCA takedown agent for Plaintiff/Appellant Cindy Lee Garcia, and has been authorized to contact and deliver takedown notices to OSP’s that display or facilitate the unauthorized copying and display of content on webpages (“URLs”) that infringe on Ms. Garcia’s copyright interests. I personally submitted the DMCA takedown notices to Google/YouTube on behalf of Ms. Garcia relating to Ms. Garcia’s claims in this action. My emphasis in DMCA Solutions’ representation of Ms. Garcia has been with respect to issues under the Digital Millennium Copyright Act (“DMCA”) and the technical aspects of the Internet that arise in this case.
4. At approximately 7:50 AM (Eastern Time) on March 25, 2014, I went to YouTube on my computer and did a simple manual search within YouTube at its search bar (as an ordinary user would) for “Innocence of Muslims.” Within a few seconds I found the YouTube www.youtube.com/watch?v=TTd-DCj86u0&gl=US uploaded under the title “Innocence of Muslims.” I viewed this video and found Cindy Lee Garcia’s performance beginning at 14:05 in the video. I then went to the bottom of the YouTube page and clicked-on the country designation “Egypt” and was immediately able to view the video within YouTube’s “Egypt” country platform (again, with Cindy Lee Garcia’s performance starting at 14:05 in the posted video). I then took screen shots of Cindy Lee Garcia’s performance on both the “Worldwide” (US) and “Egypt” YouTube country platforms. I then checked to see if the video was viewable in other country platforms and found that it was. I noted that the YouTube upload information for the video stated that it had been uploaded to YouTube in September 2013 (viewable on the screen shots).

5. In undertaking this search, I did not use any sophisticated search techniques, search algorithms, or content ID technology which I believe to be readily available to Google, but rather a simple manual word search as a YouTube user would.
6. Attached as Exhibit A are the two screen shots I took on March 25, 2014, evidencing Cindy Lee Garcia's performance in the YouTube video referenced in Paragraph 4 above, one taken when in YouTube's "Worldwide" (US) platform, and one when in YouTube's "Egypt" platform.

I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the United States of America that the foregoing is true and correct.

Executed on this 25th day of March, 2014.
